

WALK TOGETHER – QUESTION TOGETHER – TAKE RESPONSIBILITY TOGETHER

The Benedictine Monks of Holy Cross Abbey invite you to reflect on the Synodal Journey with

DR CATHERINE E. CLIFFORD, Professor of Systematic and Historical Theology at Saint Paul University, Ottawa. Her teaching, research, and publications are in the areas of ecclesiology, ecumenism, and the history of the Second Vatican Council. She is a member of the Methodist Roman Catholic International Commission and is one of the Canadian delegates chosen to be a lay voting member at the Synod on Synodality.

Report from the Synod

The experience of being listened to and participating in the synodal process has been experienced by many Catholics as “the first steps of a return from an experience of collective exile, the consequences of which affect the entire People of God.” Where are we in the synodal process of the global Catholic Church, and what might it mean for the future of our local communities?

Walking Together as One: Synodality and the Future of Christian Unity

From the outset of his pontificate, Pope Francis has considered “synodality” as a gift that Catholics might learn and receive from other Christian churches. What are Catholics learning from the global synodal process destined to lead us toward becoming a more “synodal Church on mission”? What does this ecumenical learning suggest about the path to Christian unity?

The Crisis of Authority and the Synodal Path

“Synodality is a style, a walking together, and it is what the Lord expects of the Church of the third millennium” (Pope Francis). Becoming a synodal Church in mission has important consequences for the model of leadership and pastoral practice. How, in a Church beset by the crises of credibility and disaffiliation, might synodality become a path toward healing and laying foundations for the future?

All welcome to any or all of these evenings
